JOS. JACKSON, JR. CHOSEN PRESIDENT

SUCCEEDS HIS FATHER AS HEAD OF FIRST NATIONAL BANK.

ROY HANNA AS CASHIER

Mr. Jackson, Jr., Has Been Cashier of the Bank for the Past Sixteen Years.

Joseph Jackson, Jr., was elected as president of the First National Bank at a meeting of the board of directors of that institution held last evening. Roy F. Hanna was elected as cashier.

Mr. Jackson, Jr., succeeded his father, Joseph Jackson, Sr., whose death occurred recently and who had been in the banking business here for forty-eight years. Mr. Jackson, Jr., has been cashier of the First National Bank since January 1, 1905. He has had an active part in the management of the bank for the past sixteen years. Mr. Jackson's long association with the bank and his familiarity with the business particularly qualifies him for the duties of president.

JOSEPH JACKSON, Jr.
Who was appointed president of the First National Bank.

Mr. Hanna has been assistant cashier of this bank for the past year, and prior to coming to the First National Bank March 1, 1920, had had ten years experience in the banking business. Mr. Hanna has a very wide acquaintance over the county.

The First National Bank is the outgrowth of the organization of Fisher and French Banking Company, which association later organized the Farmers Bank and then nationalized in 1884, the charter of the present bank having been taken out by Joseph Jackson, John C. Terhune, William Perdew, Charles E. Carr and James W. LaMar.

The First National Bank has always been recognized as one of the most substantial financial institutions in Northwest Missouri, and the conservative policy heretofore followed by its management will be continued.

LANSING TELLS HIS STORY ABOUT WILSON

Sharp Indictment of Woodrow Wilson's Conduct at Paris Contained in Book Written by Ex-Sec'y.

Washington, March 25.—Sharp indictment of Woodrow Wilson's conduct during the peace negotiations at Paris drawn up by former Secretary of State Lansing in a book on "The Peace Negotiations," which went on public sale today created intense interest in governmental and political circles. A spokesman for the former president said today Woodrow Wilson has not read the book. The former president, however, read with a great deal of interest stories from Lansing's pen in recent magazines, but has made no comments in regard to same even to his most intimate associates.

MISS BLYTHE PRUITT WAS SEVERELY BURNED YESTERDAY

Clothes Caught Fire From Trash in Stove as She Stood With Back to the Heater.

Miss Blythe Pruitt, 19 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Pruitt, living three miles and a half northwest of Pickering, is at her home in a serious condition as the result of burns she received yesterday. Her clothes caught fire from a small heating stove as she stood before it. Her body, with the exception of her face and head was severely burned. The accident happened about 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Miss Pruitt had been out during the afternoon and being chilly, stood with her back to the stove to get warm. The stove commonly called a trash stove, has a small door in the front through which there is a suction. It is supposed the skirt of Miss Pruitt's dress was sucked into the flames. Her sister-in-law, Ethel Pruitt, was in the next room and heard the screams. She ran out of doors to get water, and in the excitement the girl in flames followed her. The father who was nearby, tore off the remaining burning clothes, and medical aid was called.

The Pruitt family moved from Clearmont to the farm near Pickering just a short time ago.

GEORGE PICKENS WAS TAKEN IN ACTION THIS MORNING

Found Posing Before Movie Camera by Reporters—Rest of Production to be Kept Secret.

George Pickens, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, was "taken in action" this morning for the annual meeting to be held April 14, at the State Teachers College. He was discovered before the camera by newspaper reporters, who called for news.

Jack Mayo of St. Joseph, who is here directing the production, which is to be shown the evening of the annual meeting took a "close up" of Mr. Pickens dictating to his secretary, Miss Ella Farrell. Mr. Pickens proved an apt subject and "Mr. Picken's busy day" will show pretty much what the secretary does when he is busy.

Just what is to be in this movie is being kept secret. It is to be a great surprise to those who attend the meeting.

Ralph Marcell has been out doing movies for some time this spring, so Maryville is likely to be pretty well "shot up."

Mr. and Mrs. Mayo came just a few day ago to help put the finishing touches on the Maryville production. They have been doing true to life comedy stuff in St. Joseph for several months and stopped off here on their way to Chicago to help with the film. Mr. Mayo was with the Metro production company formerly.

PROTEST ON MADISON AS SENT BY G-O.P. MEN HERE

Original "House Cleaners" in Maryville Telegraph a Protest to Spencer and Others.

Copies of telegrams sent to Will H. Hays, postmaster general, Harry Daugherty, attorney general, and Senator Spencer by the original Republican 'house cleaners" of Maryville, protesting against the nomination of C. C. Madison for United States district attorney, have been received by party leaders here, says the Kansas City Star.

Following the demands last summer that Jacob L. Babler, Republican national committeeman, resign because of his connection with the Lowden fund scandal, W. C. Pierce and others held an informal meeting at Maryville. A letter then was sent out calling a convention of Republicans at Sedalia to take action against Babler. W. L. Cole, former state chairman, and other party leaders. As a result of the ensuing party uprising, the Republican machine was repudiated by the Republican voters at the August primary.

The same five Republicans a few days ago wired this protest against Madison's appointment:

We, Republicans of Missouri, bitterly protest the appointment of Charles C. Madison as United States attorney for western district of Missouri.

We protest against the appointment of Mr. Madison because it means the recognition of the old discredited and dethroned regime. It means the recognition of those in Kansas City who had brought the party locally almost to the verge of destruction. It ignores the thousands of clean Republicans and representative citizens of Kansas City who unselfishly made the fight against the then existing conditions in that city brought about by those now supporting Mr. Madison. It means ignoring the state organization, which is clean, and in our judgment, it will be made, if at all, over the protest, silent though it may be, of thousands of Republicans in this state who, during the last twelve months, have given unselfishly and unstintingly of their time and talent in an effort to cleanse and purify the party in Kansas City and the state.

NORTH CAROLINA

THE CAPITAL of North Carolina is very appropriately named Raleigh, for it was Sir Walter Raleigh who was responsible for North Carolina's first settlement. It was in 1584 that Raleigh obtained permission from Queen Elizabeth to plant an English colony in America, and the expeditions which he sent established a little colony on Roanoke island. There in 1587 was born the first American child of English parents. She was named Virginia Dare, after the virgin queen. This colony, due to England's war with Spain, could not be properly supported, and after a few years perished. It was not until over a century later that permanent settlements were made. Daring pioneers from Virginia pressed south into the new territory, and these, augmented by a large company of Huguenots from France and a greater number of Germans from the Palatinate, founded the first North Carolina town of Newburn in 1710. By the time of the Revolution the population in North Carolina had increased to such an extent, with an influx of Scotch-Irish and Scotch Highlanders who settled chiefly in the western counties, that it ranked fourth among the original thirteen colonies. Today its population entitles it to twelve electoral votes for president. In area it stands about half way among the states with 52,426 square miles. North Carolina was the twelfth state to adopt the Constitution, the formal ratification taking place in November, 1789. The derivation of the name Carolina, as in the case of South Carolina, came from the Latin Carolus, meaning Charles, and was given originally in honor of King Charles IX of France and retained by King Charles II of England. North Carolina is also known as the Old North state.

SOME SCHOOLS FAIL TO MAKE PROVISIONS FOR ELECTION

County Unit Bill Does Not Go Into Effect Until 90 Days After Session Closes.

"Some of the Nodaway County people think that the county unit bill goes into effect immediately," says Bert Cooper, superintendent of schools. "I found yesterday some of the schools had failed to arrange for elections to vote school levies.

"As the county board is not elected until August the usual spring elections will have to be held and provisions made to maintain the schools another year.

"Sam Baker, superintendent of schools for Missouri has sent letters to the superintendents of the county schools urging them to notify the people that the county unit bill does not go into effect until later.

The bill has passed both houses and is now ready for the signature of the governor. The bill does not contain an emergency clause so does not become operative until ninety days after the close of the session.

"The most important function this board will have to perform is that of receiving the budget from each of the local districts on or before February 20, 1922, from which the budget of the county school districts will be made up and submitted to the voters at the annual school meeting April 1922.

"Each district must make provisions for carrying on the school for 1921-22, at the election this month. Local school directors will be elected and the school levies voted.

"In case any school board by misunderstanding failed to place in their notices the amount of levy above the forty cents provided by law needed to run their school the coming year they may vote at the regular election to increase the levy to 65 cents in the country districts and $1.00 in the town districts or in consolidated districts where there is a town. This amount may be voted upon even if there is no notice given. The county unit bill having passed at this particular time, caused some speculation as to the effect upon the school management for the coming year and consequently some districts have failed to make provisions for funds in the annual notices and the purpose of this letter with the clipping from the state superintendent's letter is to clear up any points so the schools will provide sufficient money at their meeting for aperating the schools the coming year. Proceed with your arrangements the same as you have always done heretofore.

That's advertising.

The greatest help in buying that the world has ever known is advertising.

The advertising in newspapers tell you where to get what you want.

Instead of hunting all over town---you can find it in a few minutes in an advertisement.

Read advertisements every day. They tell you where to shop and what to buy.

And the best place to shop and the best things to buy.

United Doctors Specialist

Brings the knowledge of their Organization and experience in their Successful Treatment of

THOUSANDS OF CASES.

Offers Services Free of Charge

The United Doctors is an organization of reputable, licensed physicians. They are all specialists in the treatment of certain diseases. They treat without surgical operations diseases of all internal organs, stomach, intestines, constipation, piles, liver, spleen, heart, nerves, skin, rheumatism, sciatica, goitre, tape-worm, leg ulcers and all long standing, deep seated diseases. Many years experience. The complete record of thousands of cases successfully treated prove that their methods are right. They were among the first to earn the name

"BLOODLESS SURGEONS"

Each staff member has at his command the knowledge and resources of the organization. Many people suffer from diseases that can be alleviated just because they cannot afford to go to high priced Specialists and Hospitals at a long distance from their home. No community has a sufficient number suffering from these diseases to support special Hospitals for their treatment and cure. The United Doctors have solved the problem. Their highly trained Specialists go to each community and will advise a proper course of treatment for the suffers and instruct them how to take care of themselves at home. No matter what you have been told or the experience you had with other physicians, consult him on this visit. It costs nothing. If your case is incurable he will give you advice as may stay and relieve the disease. Married ladies must come with their husbands and minors with their parents or guardians.

Wealth In Missouri Caves

Among the imports which Americans buy annually from foreign Countries are large shipments of bat guano or manure to be used in manufacturing commercial fertilizer; yet immense deposits of this valuable material have been located in caves in the Missouri Ozarks.

"Bat guano as found in Missouri caves has a chemical composition which makes it valuable as fertilizer" says Wm. A. Albrecht of the Missouri Agricultural Experiment Station.

These deposits exist in sufficient quantity to make the industry a profitable one. The guano in Missouri caves, subjected to chemical analysis, contains nitrogen varying from 0.31 to 10.44 per cent, phosphoris acid from 2.5 to 7.9 per cent, and potash from 0.36 to 1.9 per cent. Its content of moisture is unually high, often approaching 50 per cent.

Results of these investigations have been published in Bulletin 180 entitled "Bat Guano and Its Fertilizing Value," which may be obtained free from the Missouri College of Agriculture.

ON EASTER MORN

The night was dark, the faintest tinge of dawn,
On that first Easter morn,
Just flushed the eastern sky with rose and gray,
Foretelling of the day,
When, bearing spice and myrrh, three women came
Unto the dear Lord's tomb,
To pay the last sad rites that were denied,
Unto the Crucified.

"And who," they ask in a hushed undertone,
"Shall roll away the stone,
On which, at the Sanhedrim's own appeal,
Pilate hath set his seal?"
But as they near the spot, to their amaze,
No sealed stone meets their gaze.
The door is open, anyone is free
The empty tomb to see.

Seeing they have no Roman guard to fear,
The three draw near.
And they behold, by the increasing light,
An angel all in white.
"Why seek ye here the Living One," he said,
"Among the dead?
The earth no longer holds Him in its prison,
The Lord is risen!"

Oh, glorious news, for those in darkest night,
Shall see the world's great Light,
The wondrous Son of Righteousness that brings,
Healing upon His wings!
Rejoice and spread the tidings far and near,
To each disciple's ear,
He lives! Where then, O Death, can thy sting be,
Where grave, thy victory?

A Girl From the Clouds

From the heart of the storm, a wrecked airplane crashed into Richard's lonely island—

Trumpet Island

In it he found the woman he had loved from afar. Fate had thrown them together at last—but he found her now, dressed in wedding fineries under her leather togs.

Her mind had been reduced by the accident to that of a child, and he devoted all his love to win her back to herself. He had succeeded when the husband appeared. There was a fight on the edge of a cliff, but destiny strangely garbed stepped in and called the turn. The result is the culmination of just one tense situation in

Through Sorrow to Gladness

There are yet the evidences of wreck and ruin in many parts of the world, while scarcely a single portion has been left untouched by the spirit of destruction which was summoned up to do its dread work. But, still, considered subjectively, the hearts of men have taken on a different emotions. The reconstruction time has already been entered into in material affairs. Plans are shaping for the bringing into being of a new world. Even those not inibued with the highest motives look forward with expectation to the rearrangement, in which they will perhaps have a share of the glory and from which they will derive some of the profit. Nor are their prospective labors to be altogether condemned. They are of such as Augustus, who found a Rome of brick and left one of marble, of a Louis Napoleon, who won an empire by a coup d'etat and immediately proceeded to straighten the streets of Paris.

Beyond and above this is the sense of participation iit a new world which, it may be, will possess within itself new hopes and aspirations. Unquestionably, this emotion is not absent from the hearts of men, albeit the methods of bringing the new world about are not agreed upon by all. It is equally beyond question that the possibility of a newer and better system of social and political order depends for its consummation upon definite changes in the attitude of men toward such problems, and consequently toward each other. Thus there is recognized to have come to pass, instinctively, a new attitude, or at least a fresh impetus, toward a whole host of ideals, which, in what has been denominated the canker of a long peace, found no effective place.

Not a bit of this, however, can affect the objective side of the situation, for the simple reason that no faith, however robust, can of itself make a truth of the thing believed in. That it can affect most profoundly those who believe, however, is one of the most universally attested of all truths. To that extent, therefore, there are evidences that the principle of resurrection has a mighty and widespread hold on humanity at the present time.

It were well to ponder the objective side of this most solemn and at the same time engaging doctrine of the Christian faith, albeit it is more than mere doctrine. The far earlier religion, from which Christianity in a sense emerged, included a firm belief in the resurrection. The calm word uttered to the Sadducees was that the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob was not the God of the dead, but of the living. This faith in various guises was held by many others. Plato argued intellectually on the immortality of the soul, and the fabled phoenix which arose from its own ashes presented the truth in another form.

Sweetly circumstantial is the sacred account. The order of events then paralleled the sequence of our own recent world experience. After the darkness and the earthquake, the period of suffering, came the holy calm. The transition was complete. There was no longer, for the moment, a question of sin or responsibility. Every question had been met. The moral universe had been cleared by the perfect sacrifice. The sun arose upon a morning the like of which had never been witnessed before. Death had been overcome in its own stronghold. The tomb was empty, save of the ephemeral wrappings of mortality, no longer needed. Angelic messengers bore witness to the ushering in of the new order. "Touch me not!" was the word to the weeping one who would have connected the risen Lord with the old. Yet the establishment of the new relationship was announced in almost the same breath—"Go tell my brethren." A note of gladness pervaded the whole scene. From those whose hearts now ache for the bereavements which the world war brought, this note is by no means shut out. Once more the parallel is found in their own experiences, whatever the difference either in degree or kind. There was then the suffering before the glory. So with all who today enter experimentally into the meaning and actuality. Cowper grasped the truth in his lines:

"The path of sorrow, and that path alone,
Leads to the land where sorrow is unknown."

In virtue of what occurred 2,000 years ago, there was brought within the grasp of men the accomplished fact of a new creation, built upon the foundation of the supreme sacrifice and established outside of the domain and power of death. Nothing that has transpired since has ever touched those foundations or marred the perfection of the moral structure reared thereon. In virtue of what transpired within the awful years of war, of the Gethsemane through which myriads have gone, of the actual tasting of death which millions have done, the hearts of men have been shaped and molded for the reception of the currents of the new life.

To all such this Easter Sunday will be tinctured with an inexpressible charm to which their hearts will respond with gladness. And as a background to the full splendor of its significance they can place, as did Paul, the melancholy negation of the Epicurean doctrine:

". . . let us eat and drink, for tomorrow we die!"

Pickering

By O. G. NULL.

S. E. Yager and family, former residents of Pickering, but now residents of Rochester, Minn., are visiting friends and relatives here this week. They are pleased with their new home but still have a warm place in their hearts for their old home town.

Mrs. E. A. Hardy of Denver, Colo., is visiting her aunt, Mrs. T. N. Kelley, and other relatives here this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Leech and babe of Caddao, Colo., are visiting with relatives here this week. Leonard has a position as telegraph operator at Caddao and like most of the Pickering boys who have taken railway positions is making good.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Chapman, spent the fore part of the week in Rosendale looking after some repairs on their dwelling and visiting with old neighbors and friends.

As the time for the Township Convention approaches, interest in the various offices to be filled is increasing and some lively contests are likely to insue. Nick Thull and M. L. Rickard are out for nomination for assessor on the Republican ticket while Denver McGinness and Miss Ethel Swinford desire the nomination for collector on the Democratic ticket. W. H. Lilley is the only candidate for collector on the Republican ticket as yet though it is rumored that Chas. Clayton would like to make the race again.

A Mr. Roberts of Worth County was in this vicinity the first of the week looking for stock hogs. He purchased a few small lots at from two to four cents above the market price of fat hogs.

J. C. Pistole, the Hopkins banker, was in Pickering two days this week looking after some repairs on the Chas. Garten properties. He is having both buildings wired for electric lights and otherwise repaired.

Last Friday evening as the Clearmont high school basket ball teams were coming to Pickering for a game with the Pickering High school teams a large car driven by a Clearmont driver ran into a Ford car at the end of the bridge near Ernest Staffords' smashing a wheel, breaking the wind shield and other wise damaging the Ford. Fortunately the occupants of neither car were injured. The cause of the smash up seemed to be that the Ford was on the wrong side of the road and the driver of the big car was in such a hurry that he could not wait for it to get out of the way.

The Hopkins Variety Store of Hopkins announces that on Friday and Saturday, April 1 and 2, that Mrs. Vern Jeffers will be in Pickering with a line of Millinery and will retrim hats as well as show you the new styles. Wait for her.

Altogether Busy Family

"What is the Higgins' family doing now?" asked Mrs. Jones of her neighbor. "The wife is writing poems that nobody will read, the daughter is painting pictures that nobody will buy, the son is writing plays that nobody will put on the stage, and the husband is writing checks that nobody will cash," was the startling reply.
